

re•c•be

RESOURCE EFFICIENCY
in Construction and the Built Environment

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Information, Data and Uncertainty in Construction

10 January 2018
ASBP Offices, London

resource efficiency collective

Resource Efficiency Collective is a research initiative at Cambridge University.

Together, we seek answers to a challenging question: how can we deliver future energy and material services, while at the same time reducing resource use and environmental impact?

Information, data and uncertainty in construction

Agenda

Introductions

- 1.00pm Coffee, registration
- 1.10pm Welcome – Simon Corbey (ASBP)
- 1.15pm Welcome and introduction to RECBE – Jonathan Cullen (University od Cambridge)

Talks

- 1.30pm Digital Reuse Platform – Nitesh Magdani (BAM Construct UK)
- 2.00pm Design optimisation and impact assessment at early stage design
 - Cyrille Dunant (Cambridge)
- 2.30pm Measuring urban material stocks and flows
 - Danielle Densley Tingley (The University of Sheffield)
- 3.00pm Coffee, tea, biscuits

Discussion

- 3.30pm Summaries of current projects, and brainstorm future collaborative projects
- 4.30pm Future meetings, meeting close

talks

discussion

re•c•be

RESOURCE EFFICIENCY
in Construction and the Built Environment

UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE

Information, Data and Uncertainty in Construction

10 January 2018
ASBP Offices, London

future